Wil Turner Wellness Professional

MEDIA KIT

Our lives are measured by the quality of what we pour into it, who we pour into, those who equally pour into us., the manner in which we conduct ourselves, and socially interact.”

-Wil Turner

WHO I AM

Hello, My name is WiL Turner.

I am the founder of Living Well With WiL. I specialize in personal, exercise, health, and wellness program design. I advise my clients on how they can physically, mentally, emotionally, spiritually, and professionally. I socially re-design the way they think, look, feel, communicate, socially interact, give, and live healthier and happier lives long term. The demographics of my clients include teachers, essential workers, corporate professionals, college students, and those ages 30 to 55 seeking to live a healthier and happier quality of life.

Educating, empowering, and elevating others to be their healthy and happy best in every aspect of their lives is what I enjoy and do best!

Following my wellness blueprint of taking care of self and supporting one another to do the same, connected by the principles of compassion, communication, community, cause, collaboration, the celebration of self and others, giving, and having a healthy live-work balance directly benefits the workplace, the communities we live in, our families, and more importantly; our own lives.

Wil Turner is an exceptional wellness coach and trainer who has helped me improve my fitness level and lifestyle tremendously. I trained with him for almost two years before I had brain surgery. After surgery I was back at zero. He helped me regain my emotional self confidences and physical strength; all the while being extremely mindful of the new physical, mental and emotional challenges I was dealing with. I was very afraid of working out; let alone much less confident; given strenuous activities could hurt my recovery process. He was always extremely gentle and thoughtful, yet he pushed me to new limits. Wil emotionally supported and coached me through my recovery. I'm forever in debt to him for all his help and support during such a difficult period in my life. I recommend Wil Turner hands down for both his skills and his compassion.
